INTEREST GROWS IN PEACE SITUATION.

Mexico's Selection of Commissioners Awaited.

Mormons at Dublan Disturbed at Present Situation in Mexico.

EL PASO, Texas, April 25.—Interest in the peace situation at General Madero's camp today is centred in the hope that word may come from the Mexican government of the appointment of its commissioners for the conference, at which it seems almost certain that terms of peace in Mexico will be agreed upon. The insurrecto commander, it is understood, is ready to announce his appointees as soon as the government representatives are named. The Madero family, it is generally understood, regard El Paso as the most convenient place for the peace commissioners. The meeting place, however, will probably be announced simultaneously with the names of the commissioners.

Peace negotiations, it is expected, will consume at least a fortnight. Confidence in the successful outcome of these negotiations marks the surroundings, both in the insurrecto camp and in Juarez. Even General Navarro, of marital mien and ferocious whiskers, is gentle as a lamb now-a-days, according to reports from the Mexican city. The federal commander, it is said, has a smile and a cheery word for everyone, including the once hated reporters. His cane swings jaunty as he makes his inspections and there is a coin for each beggar who beseis his path. At odd moments he opens the prison gates to free some unfortunate, "generally a harmless individual," whose "viva," misdirected from the federal point of view aroused official ire only a few days ago.

Apparently the only ones disturbed by the present situation in this part of Mexico, so lately the storm centre, are the Mormons at Colonia Dublan. According to advices from Casas Grandes most of the horses of Madero's army were left at that point when the insurrectos advanced on Juarez, and in their search for pasture many Mormon farms have suffered. At least 1,000 horses are roaming in the vicinity of Casas Grandes, it is declared.

A rumor that the insurrectos intended to disarm the Dublan and Juarez colonists caused a delegation of Mormons to wait upon the insurrecto mayor of Casas Grandes, who assured them that there was no probability of such action. If the insurrectos were hard pressed, he said, they might buy arms and ammunition from the colonists. This, the Mormons replied, would be impossible as they had none to sell. All public gatherings in the evenings have been discontinued in Colonia Dublan and Colonia Juarez.

WAR BELIEVED TO BE ENDED.

American Consul Edward at Juarez Sends Report to Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—"It is the general belief that the war is ended," declared American Consul Edwards, at Juarez, in a report to the State Department today.

AN INCORRECT VERSION GIVEN.

Captain Vivian Tells of Landing of Marines at San Quentin.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal. April 25.—Captain G. W. Vivian of British sloop Shearwater, which is in the harbor here, said that despatches from Mexico City gave an incorrect version of the landing of marines at San Quentin, lower California. He said his action was taken on the written request of two Mexican government officers, who asked the protection of the British flag, asserting that their lives were in great danger. This request was supplemented by one for protection of their property from one American and two British residents.

PRESIDENT DIAZ'S VIEWS.

Associated Press Informed of Actual Situation in Mexico City.

NEW YORK, April 25.—President Diaz of Mexico has addressed the following cable to The Associated Press:

"Mexico City, April 25, 1911.

"I reply to your message in which you ask me concerning the actual situation in this country. I am convinced that conditions of peace, interrupted for the moment, will return to Mexico, and that all Mexicans will unite with the single purpose of furthering the development and progress of the country.

"Porfirio Diaz."

TO SUBSTITUTE FOR GOMEZ.

Jose Vasconcelos in Charge of Washington Confidential Agency.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Senor Jose Vasconcelos in Charge of Washington junta at San Antonio, Texas, arrived here today to assume charge of the Washington confidential agency during the absence of Dr. Vasquez Gomez, who will participate in the peace negotiations in Mexico. Dr. Gomez will leave here tonight for Juarez, Mexico, where after a conference with General Madero, he will accompany the other peace commissioners to some neutral point where it is expected a federal commission will be sent.

RAVAGES OF INSURRECTOS.

Telegraph Poles and Trestles Destroyed Near Presidio.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Mexican insurrectos, fired on a passenger train at Presidio yesterday, according to a private telegram received here today, which further stated that no passengers were struck, though the equipments sustained some damage. The insurrectos also set fire to eight telegraph poles, and destroyed two small bridges south of Presidio. A trestle 105 feet long, north of Mazatlan, was completely destroyed last night.

APPROPRIATION FOR STONE BRIDGE.

Recommended by Committee for Work of Repairs.

House Suspends Rule Regarding Introduction of Business.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, April 25.—The General Assembly is giving evidence that it can work as well, and perhaps better, without pay than with. Both houses today had a number of bills reported from committees and cleared a number from their calendars. In the house one of the rules was suspended, so that any one may introduce such new business as he may wish and it cannot be prevented by objection. A number of appropriations were made which will draw upon the public treasury for thousands of dollars, though none of the propositions are new ones.

A feature of the day, while not a strict legislative act, was a private conference called by the house committee on corporations, at which representatives of the New York, New Haven & Hartford and Grand Trunk railroads were heard in hopes that there might be some way of bringing the two roads together in regards to an agreement upon some plan for the latter's entry to tidewater.

In the senate senator Gorton of Pawtucket, for the judiciary committee, reported an act relative to the desertion of children by parents and the desertion of wives by husbands. Calendar.

Senator Monroe of Providence, for the same committee, reported an act relative to wills executed outside of Rhode Island. Calendar.

Senator Atchison of North Smithfield, for the finance committee, reported a resolution appropriating $5,700 for repairs to the Rhode Island Institute for the Deaf. Calendar.

Senator Sayles of Burrillville, for the finance committee, reported a resolution appropriating $400 for repairs to state property at the state camp ground at Quonset Point. Calendar.

Senator Mowrey of South Kingstown, for the finance committee, reported a resolution appropriating $35,000 for use use of the State House commission. Calendar.

Also, a resolution appropriating $5,000 a year for three years for the use of the State Conservation Commission. Calendar.

Senator Arnold of Westerly, for the finance committee, reported an appropriation of $29,000 for repairs to the Stone Bridge at Tiverton. Before the legislature convened Engineer Gray appeared before the committee and reviewed the report which he made on the need of repairs to the bridge for its preservation and safety. After hearing the explanation of the engineer the committee promptly decided to report the bill.

Senator Gorton of Pawtucket, for the committee on militia, reported a resolution authorizing the Rhode Island State College to use certain military property. The act was passed.

Senator Arnold of Westerly introduced an act changing the boundary lines of the Watch Hill fire district. Referred to the judiciary committee.

Acts were passed appropriating $500 for the copying of Revolutionary records in the pension office, permitting Westerly to incur a debt of $100,000 for a site and the construction of a town hall, against rebating and discounting by life insurance companies and agents, amending the division of voting districts in South Kingstown providing for building ordinances in Cranston, and a corporation merger act.

In the house Mr. Franklin of Newport, for the judiciary committee, reported an act chartering the Harrisville Fire District. Calendar.

Mr. Hammill of Bristol, for the same committee, reported an act relating to shore birds. Calendar.

Mr. Hudson of Coventry introduced an amendment providing for a police commission in Warwick, whereby the commission will first be appointed by the government and there elected by the people. The amendment is pleasing to the Democrats. Referred to the judiciary committee.

Mr. Marsh of Providence presented a petition for the passage of a bill to provide for the erection of a state hospital for advanced cases of tuberculosis.

Acts were passed suspending house rule 22, relating to the introduction of new business; an amendment to the law on investments, requested by the bank examiner, which gives him more latitude in the matter of securities of savings banks; a provision for an associate medical examiner in Pawtucket, the reduction from seven to three of the tax assessors in Scituate, Mr. Beeckman's act requiring a protecting platform in building during construction, an appropriation of $3,000 for the maintenance of the Aileen for the Naval Reserve, an appropriation of $19,700 for the commission of inland fisheries, $2,000 for the United States Volunteer Life Saving Corps, $41,000 for new buildings at the Soldiers' Home at Bristol, to replace those burned; $5,000 for the proper representation of the state on official occasions, to pension superannuated officers of the state prison and the Providence County jail, and two notices of pendency of corporation acts having to do with the new British industry which is to be established near Westerly.

M'NAMARA SAID TO BE KIDNAPPED.

Attorneys Under Arrest and Held for Grand Jury.

Charged With Conspiracy in Case of Labor Official.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 25.—Walter Drew of New York, counsel for the National Erectors' Association; W. Joseph Ford, assistant district attorney of Los Angeles, and Frank Fox, a chauffeur, charged with having kidnapped J. J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, were arraigned today before Justice of the Peace Manning. They waived preliminary examination and were bound over to the grand jury.

William J. Burns, the detective employed by the Erectors' Association, who arrived in this city from Toledo early today, was sought by constables with a warrant for his arrest on the charge of kidnapping McNamara, but they could not find him.

A. F. Badorf of New York, an assistant of Drew, was arrested by the three constables at his room in the Claypool Hotel today, and taken before Justice of the Peace Manning. Badorf was taken in custody on a "John Doe" warrant, six of which were issued last night, on charges of kidnapping and conspiracy to kidnap. A half dozen constables are trying to locate Detective Burns.

Drew, Ford and Fox, when arrested last night, were released under bond of $5,000 each for Drew and Ford, and $3,000 for Fox. The bond to hold them for the grand jury today was set up by the justice at $10,000 each for Drew and Ford, and $5,000 for Fox. The attorney, W. E. Ketchum, after trying to obtain bail, failed, and the men were taken to the county jail. A crowd had collected about the justice's office and when the men started for the jail there was applauding and jeering.

The expected bondsmen not appearing, the justice's clerk summoned constables to take Drew and Ford to jail. By this time the little courtroom, the hallway and the narrow stairway leading down to the street were filled with a noisy crowd.

The clerk of the court started first with Ford, Drew hung back. "Come on, Drew," yelled a number of men, pressing from the hall into th doorway of the courtroom. A constable took Drew's arm and, as he resisted, a dozen arms stretched out and the man was half dragged, half pushed into the hallway. There he smiled and stepped forward briskly and apparently unmoved by a chorus of jeering laughter, handclapping and shouts of "How does it feel yourself, Drew."

"There's the district attorney going to jail," called one man, as Ford passed down the stairway. Drew was jostled on his way to the street and a throng of men, most of them apparently of the working class, followed, excited and daughing, as Drew and Ford walked the two blocks to the jail.

The turnkey searched the pockets of Drew and Ford, but they were not locked in cells. They were told that for a time they might remain in the outer office, for the reason that they expected momentarily the arrival of men who were asked by their counsel to go on their bond.

Badorf's bail was fixed at $10,000, and he was taken to jail. He demanded a hearing and the court said this afternoon the case would be taken up.

County Prosecutor Baker today appointed a special deputy, Henry Seyfried, to prosecute the cases.

The general charge against the men is that they conspired to take McNamara out of the state "without due process of law." It is alleged that McNamara did not have an opportunity to consult counsel and resist extradition after his arrest last Saturday evening. After Governor Marshall had hondred requisition papers for McNamara, Police Judge Collins turned him over to Police Sergeant Hosslck of Los Angeles. He was put into an automobile driven by Fox and taken to Chicago Saturday night, bound for Los Angeles, to answer an indictment charging him with complicity in a dynamite explosion at the Llewellyn Iron Works.

The affidavits against Drew, Ford and Fox were made by J. J. Keagan, a labor union leader of Indianapolis and member of the Indiana legislature.

With the avowed object of showing that the nearly $3,500,000 dynamite conspiracy was directed against the organization, the "frame-up," the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, through its officers, caused the arrest of Drew, Ford and Fox. The Iron Workers have received an assurance that the Western Federation of Miners will contribute $250,000 to defend McNamara and other labor bodies have signified an intention to aid in defeating what they declare to be a plot on the part of the employers.

McManigal, whose confession in Chicago told in detail of dynamiting jobs which destroyed 112 lives, is denounced by the labor men as a second Orchard.

By an order of Judge Joseph T. Markey of the Marion County criminal court, only the county prosecutor, the members of the grand jury and the officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers will be permitted to examine books and papers taken by police and deputy sheriffs from the offices of the association, relative to the inquiry into the Los Angeles Times explosion. This action, taken on application of attorneys for the association, and with the approval of the county prosecutor, bars private detective and unofficial investigators from inspecting the books, correspondence and documents.

A part of the books and papers were seized by the police last Saturday night in a raid of the offices, led by Detective Burns, who is investigating the responsibility of the dynamite explosions which have damaged bridges and buildings in course of construction in many parts of the country and destroyed the Los Angeles Times building with great loss of life.

Superintendent of Police Hyland was summoned with the books and papers before the grand jury yesterday, and

GOOD MUSIC AND READINGS.

Colonial Orchestral Club Furnishes Excellent Program at the Odd Fellows' Anniversary.

The ninety-second anniversary of the founding of Odd Fellowship in America was observed by Rhode Island Lodge, No. 12, in the Odd Fellows' building Monday evening and was attended by about 275 persons. First, there was a musical entertainment in the lodge room, followed by a supper in the hall below, and then dancing. Each feature was given thorough attention by the committee and made as perfect as possible. As guests there were families of the members and members of Excelsior and Oakland lodges.

The handsome lodge room never looked better than it did with the decoration of palms for this occasion and the new electric lighting, both seeming to fit the decorative scheme of years ago exceptionally well. At the north end of the hall a small stage had been erected, carpeted with a rug and masked on the sides with a thick maze of palms.

The evening was opened by Noble Grand Raynor, who gave statistics regarding the order, stating that the membership is above 2,000,000 and that $5,000,000 has been paid for relief in the past year. He welcomed those present, and then the evening was on.

The entertainment was provided by the Colonial Orchestral Club of Boston and Miss Knapp in readings. The former comprised a quartet of young women in Colonial costume—violinist, cellist, flutist and pianist—and two of them good vocalists. They rendered a program not too classical to be enjoyed and of a nature which showed exceptional ability on the part of the performers. They varied their work with flute, violin and cello solos, and as the last number gave an operatic composition which not only showed the instrumentalists to good advantage but also brought out a solo and a contralto voice in excellent effect. It was a well balanced quartet for such an entertainment, having a fine program rendered unusually well, and in addition with a pleasing stage appearance, both collectively and individually. The reader was not the one the committee had intended to have, as a substitution was necessary at the last moment. If there was anything lost it is difficult to comprehend what. She too made a happy selection of readings, which were well given, in costume, with excellent facial expression and acting in addition to elocutionary powers.

The program being concluded, the party adjourned to the hall below, where four tables had been arranged and a well provided menu was served, during which Lodter's orchestra rendered a musical program. The floor was then cleared of tables and chairs and dancing was in order for many of those present.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Monday was one of the few recent nights when it did not freeze.

A delegation of nine from Aquidneck Grange and 12 from Portsmouth Grange attended the installation of officers at Portsmouth Grange Monday evening at Whitridge hall, Stone Bridge. The Grange starts out with a list of 135 charter members. About 300 were present from various parts of the state, including a number of leading officials.

Mrs. E. Marion Peckham and her daughter, Mrs. William C. Hubbell, are in Providence today, to meet Mr. and Mrs. Elton W. Peckham on their return from the south.

With regard to the cold spring, it has been stated that in 1818 the only crop of corn raised on the island in that year was on the farm now occupied by Mr. Charles Peckham on Wapping road, at that time the property of his grandfather. The other fields came to naught through freezing. This particular crop was hoed by Mr. Taber, with his overcoat on and with mittens on his hands.

TROOPS SENT TO CASA BLANCA.

French Government to Prepare for Every Eventuality in Morocco.

PARIS, April 24.—The French government is preparing for every eventuality in Morocco. The war office was advised today that the first French flying column, organized at Bouznika, near Casa Blanca, on the west coast of Morocco under the command of Major Simon, for the relief of Fez, has arrived, left for that capital, by way of Rabat. Rabat is a seaport in the district under French control, almost directly west and about 50 miles from Fez. Another column is sending 10,000 reinforcements to Casablanca. These troops are composed of several regiments from France and 1,600 Senegalese from the French Colonial dependency of Senegal.

USE OF THE IRISH LANGUAGE.

appeared. If all the people talked in one language they would also be thinking in that language, and the differences which make each nation distinct and different would to a considerable extent have disappeared. This is not desirable. It is desirable for each nationality to maintain its old-fashioned characteristics, the things which have made it different from other nations, and this cannot well be done unless the language is used and the old stories and songs and music are in daily use.

The Irish language had fallen into disuse in many parts of Ireland, and had practically disappeared from some sections. Its use was frowned on, to speak in Irish was a sign of belonging in the outskirts, and yet the language was the natural method of expression of the Irish race. When the Gaelic League wasformed, 18 years ago, not one school in 200 in Ireland had a copy of the Irish language, of the educated men of Ireland not one in 10 knew the language, and it was difficult to obtain a copy of a textbook in the Gaelic language. Since than things have been so changed by the Gaelic League that 3,055 of the preparatory schools are teaching Gaelic, and of the 71,000 high school pupils last year 6,000 were students of Gaelic and selected it in their college course, and after 1913 no scholar will be admitted to the National University who does not take the course in Gaelic.

The speaker showed that this going back to the old language has quickened the national mind. There has been a great increase in prosperity, and men are looking after the interests of Ireland as they had not before. There has been aroused a national spirit to encourage Irish manufactures, to keep in the country the profits of manufacturing. Ireland last year exported $300,000,000 of raw material. There is no reason why it should not retain the profits of the manufacture of some of this, and it is doing so. All over the country little shops are springing up which will later grow into manufactories. During the past few years of financial depression the condition of Ireland has shown a steady growth, due to the revival of interest in everything Irish. The material is there, supplied by nature, to do great things, and the people are trying to turn it to their own advantage.

This same thing has been noticed in other countries where the national language was revived. It has been followed by a revival in material prosperity; it seems to have quickened the natural instincts of the mind and to have made the people more progressive.

Father O'Flanagan spoke of the work of the league in the schools and among the people, and said the envoys are here to secure assistance in the work. There are teachers going around all the time, and to increase the work funds are necessary. An auxiliary league has been begun in this country. It costs $5 a year to belong, and either individuals or societies can be members. He urged the support of all for the work in hand and made a great plea at the close, thanking all for the generous and hospitable manner in which the envoys had been received.

AMERICA'S LATEST VISITOR
A Remedy from Switzerland to Aid in the War on Consumption.

If you are one of the nine out of ten men, women and children in the United States who are subject to sudden colds, with the attendant ills of a troublesome cough, bronchitis or other forms of throat and lung affections, which, when neglected, lead on to the twin scourges of American life,—pneumonia and consumption—the coming of "Sirolin" to this country is of vital importance to you and to your family.

At your nearest drug store you can avail yourself of the professional judgment of such eminent foreign specialists as Drs. Mendelsohn, Stekel, Hugo Tausig, Goldmann, Winternitz, Marcus, Redtenbacher, Kaplansky, and others, who have tested, adopted and recommended throughout Europe the famous Swiss prescription Sirolin—the latest triumph of medical research, for the treatment in all stages of all throat and lung troubles.

With Sirolin at hand these common and dangerous attacks can be promptly controlled and the system fortified against recurrence without risking the use of harmful drugs—or impairing the digestive functions. As a preventive and safeguard Sirolin is worth its weight in gold in the family, for children and adults—and is absolutely without trace of narcotic drugs.

For sale by leading druggists.

Your Baby's Health

For strength and freedom from illness start from the outside and work in. Nothing will better insure perfect health for the little ones than a daily bath to which has been added a few drops of

Cabot's Sulpho-Napthol

About a teaspoonful to a pail of water. This will keep an infant's skin in perfect condition. It will make it white and soft and will cure any skin affections that may already exist. Above all it will prevent infection where the cuticle is bruised or broken. Cabot's Sulpho-Napthol Soap is also invaluable for the bath, being healing, healthful and soothing, containing a sufficient amount of Sulpho-Napthol to make it most effective.

Sold only in yellow packages by druggists and grocers. 10c., 25c., 50c., 75c. and $1.00. Beware of imitations.

PSYCHOLOGY OF EDUCATION.

Father Prendergast Gives the Second in a Series of Lectures for Teachers at the Cenacle.

To the Editor of The News:

Father Prendergast, S. J., gave the second in the series of lectures for teachers at the Cenacle Convent Saturday. His subject was the "Psychology of Education." In a few words he clearly and simply explained the oldest method of teaching, long in use with the Jesuits, and to which many secular schools and colleges are now turning their attention. But it is a system older than the Jesuits, for it goes back to the days of Aristotle, whose teaching it really was.

According to this old pagan, education is not "a pouring in" of facts (the general method of modern teaching), but a "bringing out of the power of the intellect to define and distinguish by casuality." The intellect is like a bone-saw in a mill. The world is pushed in upon it through all the senses, as the log is against the saw. The intellect cuts and divides the world pushed against it. Part of the world is "cut out" or distinguished; part is "cut in" or defined. To "bring out" this faculty of distinction and definition is the object of education. The scholastics following Aristotle simply expressed the same truth—what defines, distinguishes. Casuality is fourfold, the first and efficient cause answering to who, the second the formal and the material cause, answering to what, and the final or ultimate cause answering to why. How? is the question of the uneducated. All these are questions which children ask, and education but develops the mind to answer these qustions by its very nature. All these causes are interwoven with each other and the objection to modern education is that it stops or only includes the formal cause.

The modern child is taught "This is the house that Jack built." What a beautiful house, say the children. "This is the malt that lay in the house," etc. Excellent malt, say the children. "This is the suck." The children observe the sack. "This is the rat," and so on, with dabs of facts. Why not stop with the house and ask: "Who was Jack" and what did he built the house for, and why? In understanding who built the house and why, and for what reason we have accounted for much that happened after. Then on to the next fact.

It follows as a natural sequence that no education can be perfected without religion, for no mere knowledge of facts can be complete without a knowledge of God. The intellect of defining by casuality must know the first who and final why. In the first two answers of the catechism we have the first and final answer. "Who made you?" God. "Why did He make you?" To know Him, to love Him and to serve Him in this world, and be happy with Him in the next." On the confines of the borderland of the ultimate cause Aristotle and Plato wandered vaguely, unable to find an answer to the great why. God alone can answer the first who and the last why, for He is both, "I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end."

Owing to the absence of many of the teachers on their vacation Father Prendergast has been asked to repeat this lecture later in the summer.

ENTRIES FOR OCEAN RACE.

Vagrant, Sunshine and Seneca Will Meet in Contest From Boston to Bermuda.

Rules and conditions to govern the 635th annual ocean race to Bermuda, to be started June 3, under the auspices of the Boston and St. George's Yacht Club, have been given out by the regatta committee of the Boston Yacht Club. The race will start off Castle Island in Boston harbor and the finish will be off St.David's head, Bermuda, where the contestants will be entertained at the new quarters of the St. George's Club, instead of going to Hamilton, as in former years. A Fiol cup has been donated as a trophy by the Boston City Council.

Harold S. Vanderbilt's schooner Vagrant was the first entry received for the race. Another yacht already entered is schooner Sunshine, owned by P. L. Carmichael of New York. Demarest Lloyd is expected to enter schooner Seneca and Frank M. Whitehouse of the Manchester Yacht Club auxiliary schooner Iris, formerly the Comus. Entries will close May 15.

The distance for allowance will be 635 nautical miles. The race is open to cruising sail craft belonging to any organized yacht club, but yachts having fins or bulb keels or balanced rudders will be barred.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Mr. John E. Munro died Monday at his home on Turnpike road, after a week's illness of pneumonia. He was 61 years of age and leaves a wife and a brother, Daniel C. Munro.

Hannah M., the two-year-old-daughter of Joseph B. and Addie M. W. Cook of Fall River, lately of this town, died Sunday at the home of her parents, after a short illness.

Miss Etta Hamilton has returned from a week's visit to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Beattie of Tiverton.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Almy of Bristol have been guests of Mrs. Almy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Grinnell.

Mrs. Sarah Giles of Springfield, Mass., is here, called at first by the serious illness with pneumonia, of her son, John Munro, and detained here by this death Monday morning.

Mrs. William B. Clarke and her daughter, Mrs. Howard A. Pierce, have returned from a visit to Dr. and Mrs. Frank J. [illegible] of Dorchester.

Miss [illegible] Allen has returned from Sleep[illegible] where she has been guest of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Brown.

The [illegible] had a large attendance at the [illegible] meeting at Oakland hall, more than [illegible] persons being present. It had been thought to make it the last meeting for the season, but the popularity and financial success of these meetings will cause them to be continued.

The Portsmouth Free Public Library has received a large number of [illegible].

Miss [illegible] Allen and her brother, [illegible] Allen, have been guests for a week of their aunt, Mrs. Tuttle of Newport.

Miss Isabella Fish has returned from a visit to her brother, Mr. Arthur L. Fish, in Dorchester.

The widow of Joseph W. Greene, formerly Miss Sarah Anderson of Newport, who has made her home for the past year with Mr. Isaac B. Mathewson on Quaker hill, has secured a position in the Nina Lynette Home in Newport and will soon take up her residence there.

Misses Helen and Rachel Peckham, who have been spending a week in Boston as guests of their brother, Mr. S. Howard Peckham, have returned home.

PERHAPS THE BEST YET.

The first speaker was ex-Congressman William Paine Sheffield, who said one would not be a loyal son of Newport who did not appreciate the opportunity to be present at a gathering of the Newport Artillery, an organization which had always been prepared at the call to duty to go to the defense of the country. To be prepared for war is one of the most effective ways of preserving peace, and the Newport Artillery has always been ready, and always responded.

Mr. Sheffield spoke especially of the men who in 1741 organized the company, men prominent in the affairs of Newport and who later became prominent in national affairs, mentioning Henry Collins, Godfrey Malbone, Jahleel Brenton and William Vernon, merchant princes of the day, who were ready to give their services and their wealth for the good of the country. He then reviewed hastily the response of the company to the call of duty in 1745, to Louisburg and Crown Point; in the days of the Revolution, in 1812, in 1842, in 1861-5, and in 1898.

In all these wars the Newport Artillery has been an organization which has been a nursery for soldiers, and to all these wars men went out from this armory to their country's service. He had no doubt that if calls came in the future, the present company would be responsive of the traditions of the past, and would again furnish members to defend the country.

Mr. William Hamilton, president of Company F Association, was introduced as one "to whose care, when the color bearer of the First Rhode Island regiment was shot down, the colors were assigned during the remainder of the battle, Corporal William Hamilton, of Company F, First Rhode Island volunteers." Mr. Hamilton laid emphasis on the fact that it was not Company F, but the Newport Artillery, which 50 years ago left the armory to response to the call of President Lincoln. When the call came 33 members of the company agreed to respond; then others joined, until more than 100 members of the Newport Artillery left to go to the war. The call had been for three months, but it made little difference with the men whether it was for three months or for three years; they had volunteered for the war. We did our duty, that's all. President Lincoln had called us into service and we were ready to die, if necessary, for the cause. That spirit is what has made our nation what it is. Arbitration may come, but if the call comes for war we desire to be prepared and ready to give our last drop of blood for our country.

Lieutenant Joseph G. Lekens of the Old Guards Veterans Association of New York spoke briefly of the pleasant relations existing between the organization of which he is a member and the Newport Artillery.

Colonel Herbert Bliss gave an interesting account of the service of the First Rhode Island regiment in the Spanish-American war, in which members of the Newport Artillery wore a prominent part. The Artillery was the first state organization to do duty in that war, and its members were the nucleus of Company F in the Rhode Island regiment. His story of the enrollment of the company, the gathering of the regiment in Quonset Point, its marches, its camps in Virginia, Pennsylvania and South Carolina, and its return to Providence after 4½ months' service held the audience to the end. In all this service the training which the members of the Artillery Company had received in the armory on Clarke street was of great service to the officers and made Company F the best in the regiment.

Representative Robert S. Franklin spoke briefly of his appreciation of the work of the Artillery Company and its services to the country.

Chaplain E. H. Porter was called upon unexpectedly, but responded with one of his characteristic addresses, urging the members to realize that in their services in the company they are doing a man's part in the preservation of the peace of the country, and urging them to hold true to the traditions of the organization and be ready, whatever comes, for service for the right.

This concluded the reunion and the members of the company and their guests separated, well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

THE LONGEST WORD.

[Lippincott's.]

"What is the longest word in the English language?" asked Uncle Tom.

"Valetudinarianism, I suppose," replied James, who had taken a prize in spelling.

"No," spoke up Susie; "it's 'smiles' because there is a whole mile between the first and last letters."

"I know one," said Jack, "that has over three miles between its first and last letters."

"What word is that?" asked Uncle Tom.

"Beleaguered," cried Jack triumphantly.

"I know one," said Philip, "that is longer than that. 'Transcontinental' has a whole continent between its beginning and ending."

"'Interoceanic' beats them all," exclaimed Elsie, "for it contains an ocean; and an ocean is larger than any continent."

GLOBE-TROTTERS PLUS.

[Lippincott's.]

A number of tourists were recently looking down the crater of Vesuvius. An American gentleman said to his companion:

"That looks a good deal like the infernal regions."

An English lady, overhearing the remark, said to another:

"Good gracious! how these Americans do travel!"

WHITE HANDS OR RED HANDS, WHICH?

Red, rough hands on retiring usually become soft white hands on rising through the simple and economical one night treatment afforded by Cuticura soap and Cuticura ointment. Bathe and soak the hands on retiring, in a hot lather of Cuticura soap. Dry and anoint freely with Cuticura ointment, and in severe cases spread the ointment on thin pieces of old linen or cotton. Wear during the night old, loose gloves, or a light bandage to protect the clothing. Most effective for chapped, itching and bleeding hands.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

The official Government tests show Royal Baking Powder to be an absolutely pure and healthful grape cream of tartar baking powder, and care should be taken to prevent the substitution of any other brand in its place.

With no other agent can biscuit, cake and hot-breads be made so pure, healthful and delicious.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price per pound, and is cheaper and better at its price than any other baking powder in the world. It makes pure, clean, healthful food.

A TREE CITY.

[Abbie Farewell Brown in St. Nicholas.]

I know a little city on a green and sunny hill,
Where a hundred tiny families have homes;
Its byways are uncrowded, its leafy lanes are still,
And there no noisy railroad ever comes.

The homes are high and airy; they hang and rock and sway
Whichever way the summer breezes blow;
They have no doors or windows, no roof to blow away,
But leafy awnings shade the babes below.

The fathers and the mothers all earn their daily bread
And bring it to the little ones whenery;
They do not ride or motor; they do not walk;—instead
They choose the very latest mode,—they fly!

The happy little citizens who live so high and free,
They sing and sing and sing the whole day long;
For the peaceful, quiet city is a green and lovely tree,
And the dwellers there are birds—whose life is song.

DON'T EXPERIMENT.

You Will Make No Mistake If You Follow This Newport Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are common symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in Newport. Follow the advice of a Newport citizen.

George C. Kaull, 11 Cranston Ave., Newport, R. I., says: "I am not certain as to the cause of my kidney trouble but believe it was due to drinking impure water. Some time ago I was attacked by a dull ache across the small of my back. The kidney secretions also became scanty and painful in passage, and caused me considerable annoyance during the night. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Wright & Hay's Drug Store and found relief upon taking the contents. The use of the second box effected a complete cure, for which I am truly grateful."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

P.N. CORSETS

THIS WEEK.

While other corset manufacturers spend large sums in magazine advertising, the makers of the famous P. N. Corsets have chosen a different method of bringing home to the consumer the superior merits of their product. They select one representative store in a city and allow them a limited number of one of their best models to sell at just one-half the regular price, thus advertising their corsets and making lasting wearers of their goods.

We have been selected for this advertising campaign in Newport and offer this week a superb model of P. N. Corsets in the newest style, made of fine coutil, heavily boned with rust-proof boning, fitted with draw string and four hose supporters and trimmed with lace and ribbon. This is the regular $2 model, but will be sold for a limited time at

Per pair. Sizes from 18 to 30.

We carry at all times a complete line of the P. N. Corsets selling from $1.00 to $5.00 a pair.

If you are not a wearer of this corset now is a good time o get acquainted.

THE DEFEAT OF THE TAX LEGISLATION.

The tax bills have been killed and the Republicans have broken their pledge, unless they redeem it this week. In the campaign last fall, when the present General Assembly was elected, there was a distinct agreement on their part that there should be some definite action at this session of the legislature in favor of improved tax laws. So definite and emphatic was this pledge that it was made a part of the platform adopted at the Republican convention. Not only was this the case, but all through the session the leaders have repeatedly said in public and in private that the party was bound to pass some sort of tax legislation, because of this promise made in the campaign. Without apology or explanation, they have broken faith with the people. Instead of passing the tax bills, the Republican majority in the legislature has sent them all back to the committee which has had them in charge, with instructions to report them to the next General Assembly, and unless new action is taken this week, of which there is some possibility, the measures are dead for a year.

There was not very great surprise, however, at this action on the part of the Republicans, despite their explicit and frequently expressed pledge to pass the measures at this session. The leaders of the party at the beginning of the session apparently adopted the policy of doing as little as possible during these weeks of meeting and adjourning, and no one will deny that they have carried out the plan with fidelity and literalness. This policy has been evident in connection with other legislation, but it was not generally supposed that it would be carried to the extent of violating the pledge to pass these tax laws.

It is, however, realized, now that the action has been taken, that it is a serious thing for a party to reject its own platform and that it gives the other side a weapon which can be used with great effectiveness. So there is talk of reconsideration, as it is feared that even if the voters by next November should forget this action by the Republicans the Democrats would not permit them to do so and would make this act of the legislature one of the strong features of the campaign, and thus keep the record of their opponents before the people. The Republicans have taken a long chance in rejecting the tax bills and not keeping their pledge to pass them at this time and it would be the part of political wisdom to retreat before it is too late.

MUNICIPAL DEBT.

A striking evidence of the rapid increase in municipal indebtedness is afforded in the statistics of municipal bond sales compiled by the Commercial and Financial Chronicle. The figures are only for the first quarter of each of the past 20 years, but they are typical.

Leaving out of the account short-term securities, which are often a mere anticipation of the current taxes, the permanent or long-term bonds sold by cities in the first quarter of this year amounted to $121,000,000. A year ago the amount was $104,000,000, two years ago it was less than $80,000,000, and three years ago over $50,000,000. In 1902 the amount was $51,000,000 and in 1892 it was only $22,000,000.

Between 1892 and 1901 the largest amount of municipal bonds sold in the first quarter of any year was $35,000,000 in 1897, but the year before that it was only $15,000,000, the average for the two being $25,000,000. Except in 1897 and 1900 the amount did not reach $25,000,000 in any year. From 1902 to 1911 the municipal bond sales in the first quarter did not fall below $30,000,000 in any year and exceeded $50,000,000 in each of the last six.

Twenty-five or 30 years ago the rapid increase of municipal debt created alarm and in most states a limit expressed in a percentage of assessed valuations was put on the amount a city could borrow. In recent years valuations have been increasing rapidly in part because property has advanced in value, but also because municipal governments desired more money and assessments were raised for the express purpose of levying larger taxes, and more especially of permitting a greater amount of borrowing.

Our national debt is not increasing except for the construction of the Panama canal, but the expenses are rising and new revenues will need to be provided soon. Many of the states are reducing their debts, but they are also increasing the amount of taxes collected by them. The smaller political sub-divisions are generally, and often rapidly, increasing their mortgages upon the earnings of the future.

REPUBLICANS AND RECIPROCITY.

The greater part of the Republicans are still holding out against reciprocal tariff concessions, though they professed 20 years ago to be immoderately proud of the results of the reciprocity provisions in the McKinley tariff. Several years later, in 1896, they declared in their national platform that reciprocity and protection were twin Republican policies and if the country would restore them to power they would re-establish both. They were in such haste to re-establish one of the twins that a special session of Congress was called to enact the Dingley tariff. Mr. Dingley supposed the platform promise of the previous year was in good faith and made provision in his bill for two classes of reciprocity agreements. In order to have something to concede in appearance, without conceding anything in fact, he marked up the rates of duty so that after concessions should be made there would still be enough protection to satisfy himself and his protectionist associates. Having secured the increased duties, the Republican party had "cold feet" regarding the reciprocal concessions which the tariff duties were made to aid, and the Senate killed every one of the reciprocity agreements which required its consent.

Since then reciprocity has been almost as repugnant to the greater part of the Republicans as free trade. Recognizing a growing opposition in his own party to protection in its more extreme forms, the President negotiated a reciprocity agreement with Canada, and in the new House of Representatives, as in the House of last winter, a majority of the Republicans voted against it. The Senate will probably agree to it, not because a majority of Republicans will consent, but because the Democrats have a larger membership in the present Senate than in the body which last winter refused to act on the agreement one way or the other. It is not certain that the President is not a much better friend of the protective system than the Republican extremists; such concessions as he recommends would be likely to avert a general attack upon the whole system.

HELMETS FOR FIREMEN.

With the increase of slate as a roof covering, owing to the building law, it would seem to be time for the fire department to give serious consideration to the matter of head covering for the firemen. Helmets as a protection have been unknown in Newport for many years, though in many departments the failure of a member to wear one at a fire means suspension. These stringent rules are made because in these cities the effort is made to throw about the life of the firemen as great protection as possible. Experience has shown that a slate-covered roof is a dangerous affair in case of fire, because the heated slates when struck by water fly to pieces and fill the air with cleaver-like particles. Leather helmets are not things of comfort, but many times save life or injury, and it is well to anticipate rather than wait until a fireman is struck to awake to the situation.

Governor Wilson of New Jersey secured from the legislature of that state practically all the laws he desired. These include the most up-to-date primary and election reform bill, the most strenuous corrupt practice act of any state of the Union, a public utilities measure which goes further than any similar measure in operation in any other state, a workmen's compensation act and the commission government measure, under which this system of government can be applied to any municipality. These laws were not secured solely by the votes of the members of the governor's party, but their enactment was made possible only by the aid of the Republicans, Governor Wilson asking and obtaining the hearty support of the Republican Senate for his administration measures.

The Republicans of the United States Senate have finally refused to recognize the "insurgents" as a party and give them the places they demand on committees. The latter, however, will be recognized as individual members of the party, and be offered good places, some of them chairmanships. The leaders regard it as enough of a concession to treat the "progressives" as Republicans after the record some of them have made and their attacks upon the administration. It is not known whether the insurgents will accept this concession, and legislation is still tied up until the committees are announced.

There is a possibility that no legislation of importance will be enacted at the special session of Congress. One of the oldest Republican Senators expresses the opinion that not even the Canadian reciprocity measures will go through. This Senator believes, and others agree with him, that the unprecedented situation in the Senate means a legislative deadlock and the postponement of all legislation sent over from the House until the regular session meets in December next.

Though the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad secures control of the New England roads, somehow it does not manage to curb the Grand Trunk railroad and there is everywhere a lively fight between the two great corporations.

PENNY POSTAGE IN SIGHT.

Postmaster General Hitchcock Predicts Surplus in Department by Close of Fiscal Year.

Penny postage is now in sight. There is no longer a real deficit in the Postoffice Department. The difference between receipts and expenditures for the last six months is only $40,863 on the wrong side of the ledger. This administration inherited from that of President Roosevelt a postal deficit of $17,500,000. While this saving has been going on the postal facilities have been extended, and it has been accomplished by curtailing service, according to the department.

In this administration 3,089 new offices have been established, 142 new cities have had delivery by carriers and 2,124 new rural free delivery routes have been set going. There has been an increase in employes of 8,274 men, and the expenditure for salaries increased by $11,708,071 in two years. The average pay for clerks has been increased from $978 to $1,051. Rural carriers are to receive largely increased compensation during the coming year. They are now getting an average salary of $571, as against $859 two years ago. The average yearly salary of railway postal clerks has been increased in the two years from $1,171 to $1,185.

In the first six months of the current year the increase in expenditure was only 3.2 per cent, as against an average annual increase of more than 8 per cent during the last decade. Owing to this marked reduction in expenditures it was possible to wipe out the deficit, in spite of the fact that the increase in revenues fell below the normal, dropping to 6.9 per cent for the six months, as compared with 10.5 per cent for the corresponding period of the preceding year. Had the revenues continued to show a normal increase the auditors' report just received would have shown a considerable surplus. Postmaster General Hitchcock is confident that by the close of the current fiscal year such a surplus will be reported.

TREASURES OF SEA WASHED UP ON ENGLISH COAST.

The recent extraordinary high tide wrought strange havoc on the Suffolk coast, England. At Thorpness, Aldeburgh, 1,000,000 tons of sand were washed away, and bungalows on the coast, which were 100 yards away from the sea, were within a few feet of highwater mark. But the most curious fact was that hundreds of coins of gold, silver and bronze, and dating back in many cases to early Saxon times, were brought to light, also antique bronze rings and ornaments and an old bag clasp of bronze, with a silver inscription, believed to be of the age of King John.

This coast is of the greatest antiquarian interest. Standing on it, according to local legend, the wayfarer at twilight can hear the bells of the submerged churches of Dunwich in the sea. Of this place, once a populous seaport, little or nothing now remains. It is most like to Reculver, in Kent, as lonely and as rich in historic memories.

Here centuries ago were stationed Roman troops; here was a Saxon city of great importance, Dummocaster, and here about 630 A. D. Sigeberht, king of East Anglia, built himself a palace and erected a cathedral, which was consecrated by Archbishop Honorius. There were 15 bishops of Dunwich before the see disappeared. At one time the city boasted six churches, in addition to convents, hospitals and other public buildings.

Under Henry II its ships voyaged as far as Iceland. In the reign of Edward III the old port was swept away, with 400 houses. One by one, five of its churches were undermined by the waves and today only one remains, a melancholy ruin, with a fragment of a monastery and the scanty remains of a leper hospital. Ships, harbor, city, all have gone; even the very ruins have perished with the above exceptions. But on the shore still grows the "Dunwich rose," which by tradition was first brought to East Anglia by the monks 1,400 years ago.

NEW YORK'S OPEN-AIR THEATRE.

The movement for the establishment of a great open-air theatre in New York, which has been discussed for more than a year, and which took fresh impetus several weeks ago when Charles Frohman and Miss Maude Adams offered to repeat the latter's Harvard performance of "Joan of Arc" in Central Park, has finally taken concrete form. Park Commissioner Charles B. Stover announces that he has selected what he regards as an admirable site for the theatre and that the money for the work of construction is available. The site selected by Commissioner Stover is the old Jasper Oval, which is now a part of St. Nicholas Park, but the plans involve no encroachment on ground used to any extent for fresh air and recreation.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

Grand Trunk Will Not Permit the New Haven to Select Its Route.

Complimentary Dinner To Retiring and Present Adjutants General Sackett and Abbot.

In a letter to Mayor Fletcher, dated at Montreal last Saturday and received by the mayor Monday, Vice President E. H. Fitzhugh serves notice that the Grand Trunk will not permit the New Haven railroad to select its route to tidewater, and states that unless his road can secure "an unobstructed way, either over our own rails or over the rails of the New Haven under joint operation, paying, of course, just compensation," the company will not be justified in constructing the line and will not do so. Mr. Fitzhugh points out that his road selected a route after careful surveys and "deliberate weighing of the various possible routes." He states that his company will be willing to accept the city's proposition of joint use of the New Haven tracks, but that the Grand Trunk "absolutely rejects" the New Haven's plan for a deep cut through the hill north of the Roger Williams Park speedway. He also calls attention to the fact that his road, in asking for a grade crossing for the Harbor Junction branch, is seeking something "necessary and reasonable;" refers to the Grand Trunk's proof of its sincerity in the fights which it has successfully carried on at Brattleboro and in Massachusetts to secure a line here, and says the people can judge as to how his company has carried out its promises. "We have done everything that courtesy and fair dealing can suggest, and we have reached the point where we must face the question of a final outcome," he continues.

Governor Pothier and the members of his staff gave a complimentary dinner to the retiring adjutant general, Frederic M. Sackett, and to his successor, Charles W. Abbot, Jr., in Providence Monday evening. The dinner was served in the front parlor of the Crown Hotel, where large national and state flags formed the background of the decorations, and to one side of the table stood a large picture of the governor and his staff, mounted on a big oak easel, surmounted with the state seal in colors. General Sackett retired January 31, declining reelection to the office he had filled for 15 years, and at the opening of the festivities a toast, proposed by Governor Pothier, was drunk in his honor. Lieutenant Governor Zenas W. Bliss, who on several occasions has been commander-in-chief of the state forces during the absence of the governor, was present as a guest of the evening. He proposed a toast to Adjutant General Charles W. Abbot, Jr. The members of the staff present included the following: Quartermaster General W. Howard Walker of Providence, Judge Advocate General Walter R. Stiness of Warwick, Surgeon General Charles F. Peckham of Providence, Colonels Latimer W. Ballou, Edmond H. Guerin and Ambrose Kennedy of Woonsocket, Emery J. San Souci of Providence, Fred B. Lawton of North Kingstown, Edward A. Sherman of this city and Executive Secretary Edward Parsons Tobie. The occasion was of an informal nature, and after the dinner the evening was spent socially.

Mrs. Gilbert L. Staples of Woonsocket was the victim of a brutal assault by a footpad early Monday evening on Transit street, near her home, in that city. The man threw Mrs. Staples to the ground, demanding money, and pummeled and punched her until her screams attracted the attention of others in the vicinity. Mrs. Staples had been to the home of a relative, and on her way to her home went to a small store on Tinkham street, where she made a purchase. She had gone a little way from the store when a man seized her and demanded money. The woman screamed and the highwayman threw her to the ground and pounded her face into the dirt, all the time calling upon her to hand over the money she had with her. Mrs. Staples screamed for help and presently several men came running toward her. Mrs. Staples's assailant ran away, followed by another man who apparently was a confederate and had been standing on guard. The second man took no part in the assault, however. Both escaped.

At a meeting of the school committee of East Providence Monday evening, attended by several town officials and others, it was decided to amend the present school bond bill in the legislature and ask for authority to issue $75,000 in bonds, instead of $25,000. This will provide a total of $99,000 in school bonds, provided the taxpayers accept the plan. It was also planned to call a special town meeting provided the bond issue act passed the legislature. The joint meeting and resulting action were due to the destruction of the Dean school at Riverside, and a demand for a new school in that section, coupled with the proposition to build a new school in Rumford. The policy of building substantial brick buildings instead of small wooden structures was also discussed.

President W. H. P. Faunce of Brown University will supply the pulpit at the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, New York, on Sundays during the coming month of May. President Faunce was "shepard" of this "flock" about 10 years ago, or up to the time he came to the presidency of Brown University. "There is great fondness for him still," remarked John P. Elder, one of the longtime trustees of the Fifth Avenue church. "He preached last Sunday—his use of English is wonderful." According to one of the most influential trustees, the church will "probably pick from domestic talent" when it calls a successor to Rev. Dr. Aked, but for the month of May the committee on pulpit supply decided to call upon its former pastor, and President Faunce accepted.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, April 25.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Fair tonight and Wednesday; moderate northerly to westerly winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The weather is fair with generally clear skies over the entire eastern half of the country. There is some cloudiness in the southwest and on the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains, where there has been light precipitation during the past 24 hours. The area of high pressure that has covered the Lake region has moved very little since yesterday. A trough of barometeric depression extends from Alberta in the British northwest southward through the Rocky mountain region to Arizona. The temperature distribution is very little changed except that there has been tendency toward higher temperature in northern districts, particularly along the Middle Atlantic and New England coast. In New York at 8 a. m. it was 54, Washington 50, Jacksonville 62, Chicago 48, Des Moines 40, Kansas City 46, St. Paul 42, Denver 42, San Francisco 46 and Portland, Oregon 44.

EXCEL SOME PROFESSIONALS.

Father Mathew Minstrels Show Careful Planning and Attention to Details.

The popularity of the Father Mathew society minstrels was shown once more Monday evening, at the fifth annual coffee supper, minstrel and social held in the society's hall. When the figures are completed it is believed that the audience will surpass in size any ever gathered in the building. While the minstrel performance was on those who found standing room within view of the stage felt that they were fortunate, while others behind them were vying with each other in an effort to obtain glimpses now and then of the performers. It is expected to fill the hall again for the second performance, though it is not probable that the number will be so large as on the first evening.

The affair was divided into three parts—a supper first, followed by minstrelsy and afterwards dancing. From 6 to 10 the corps of waiters was kept busy in the basement, which was decorated in an inviting manner with flags and bunting. It was estimated that about 800 sat down to supper.

By 8 o'clock the main hall had filled for the minstrel performance and the company appeared on the stage shortly after. It was made up in the following manner: End men—Tambos, "Buck" Crane, "Bud" Meehan, "Dud" Coffey, Bones, "Val" Walters, George Boyle, J. J. Martin. Soloists—Miss Catherine L. Mahoney, C. F. Gifford, F. Mullaley, Benjamin Crowell, George A. Barker.

John B. McCarthy held the centre, surrounded by the following chorus: William Curry, F. Winters, A. Kane, J. Keeley, W. Lacey, J. Harrigan, M. L. Sullivan, J. Walsh, M. Morris, A. Bowle, T. O'Brien, J. Eagan, W. Sullivan, M. Pinto, G. May, W. Noonan, J. Boyle, J. Kirwin, G. Kirwin, J. Dwyer, J. Segerson, G. McLeod, Frank Martin, D. Doyle, J. Carney, T. Sullivan, P. Hoppe, D. Riley.

The company sang for the curtain chorus "Alabama and Band! Band! Band!" and the members then were introduced and rendered their individual numbers. "Val" Walters sang "If I Knew It Was Going out," Benjamin Crowell "In All My Dreams," Jerry Coffey "Steamboat Bill," George A. Barker "In the Garden of Love with You," George F. Boyle "Let me Live and Die in Dixieland," John E. Mullaly "Night and Day," and Charles Meehan "Put Your Arms Around Me Honey." By request, "Silver Threads among the Gold" was given by Charles F. Gifford and "Mind Your Own Business" by Charlie Crane. For the finale Jerry Riley, assisted by Master Sullivan and the entire company, rendered "When a Southern Girl Loves a Yankee Doodle Boy."

The olio opened with a rag-time piano selection by Frank Walsh, followed by a monologue by James J. Martin, "The Latest New York Song Poem" made a hit, being put on by Jerry Valentine and George Boyle, assisted by the following "gentlemen friends": W. Curry, T. O'Brien, D. Riley, John Segerson, Michael Pinto and George McLeod. Miss Katherine L. Mahoney sang, "Believe me, if all those endearing young charms," receiving a beautiful bouquet of roses and much applause. She responded with "My Hero," from the "Chocolate Soldier."

Manager Gifford had originally planned a prelude composed of women, but time did not permit this. He considered himself especially fortunate in securing among others Miss Mahoney on short notice.

The "Fashion Review," introducing the latest Parisian conceits in fashionable feminine attire, was portrayed by Joseph Kirwin and Joseph Keeley, assisted by Albert Bowley, William Carney, John Nolan, John Harrington, Charles Crane and Charles Meehan.

The whole performance showed evidence everywhere of having been well planned and rehearsed with careful attention to the smallest details. The chorus singers were attired, the front in evening dress and the second in black and red coats. Unlike some performances which smack of the amateurish, the members had been so long and carefully drilled that their efforts were more enjoyable than many professional shows.

The entertainment committee consisted of the following members: Chairman, Daniel E. Doherty; vice chairman, Charles Gifford; secretary, Joseph M. Martin; assistant secretary, J. N. Kerins; treasurer, Lawrence P. Sullivan; John P. Sullivan, J. Marion, William A. Roynane, P. H. Leeson, Charles Meehan, James Hickey, Edward Kirwin, Michael P. Murphy, J. P. Carney, Frank Martin, Raymond Sullivan, Michael Shea, George Daniel Doyle, James Stevenson, Frank K. Burns, James M. Lacey, P. Worrallow, V. V. W. Walters, Peter Martin, John H. Roche, Andrew J. Grace, Jr., P. J. Connell, Thomas F. Burns, William Martin, William Sullivan, Garrett F. Kirwin, James Hogan, Daniel Harrington, Daniel Hayes, Patrick Burns.

The committee of women co-operating with the entertainment committee was as follows: Chairman, Mrs. Joseph J. Kirwin; secretary, Mrs. Charles F. Gifford; Mrs. Agnes Finn, Mrs. Nellie McCarthy, Mrs. James M. Lacey, Miss Annie Doyle, Miss Lena Donovan, Miss Josephine Donovan, Miss Anna Ryan, Miss Margaret Harrington, Miss Annie Shea, Mrs. Margaret Harrington, Miss Grace Chaquet, Miss Catherine Burns, Miss Margaret Finn, Miss Nora Ward, Miss May Manning, Mrs. Frank Burns, Miss Annie Fitzsimmons, Miss R. Keenan, Miss Catherine L. Mahoney, Miss Theresa Maloney, Miss Annie Kirby, Miss Annie Kirby, Miss Ella Roynane, Miss Mary Sullivan, Miss May Smith, Miss Robertson.

The executive staff was as follows: Stage manager—Charles F. Gifford; musical director, Cornelius W. R. Callender; pianiste, Miss Lena Agnes Walsh; director of orchestra, Frank J. McCloskey; stage manager—Patrick H. Vaughn; assistant stage manager, P. H. J. Leeson; program and press agent, Thomas F. Burns; electrician, John F. Roach; stage carpenter, Daniel Harrington; scenic artist, Frank K. Burns.

To show the hall was cleared for dancing, which continued until 1 o'clock this morning.

THE FIRST OPEN CAR.

The day has finally come for which the company has been looking and yesterday forenoon an open car was put on the line. It was not expected to run it many hours, but preparations have been made at the car barns and the men have been in better condition for open cars this year than ever before, having more prepared for the same service. This is April 11, and last year March 29 and 30 the weather was such that open cars were used.

THREE BOXING BOUTS.

Hall Packed, Including Some Unsuspected Sports, to See the Exhibition.

The Perry Athletic Club had a good attendance at its opening bouts at the Hippodrome Monday evening, and apparently every one was satisfied with the three shown. There was a sprinkling from all parts of the town, and some unexpected sports were discovered among those present, showing that it is not only the young, but also some who are usually so sedate that one would not suspect it, who delight to see a good bout with the gloves. Not a few from the "cottage colony" and some business men took an evening off to see the bouts. The place was practically packed. There were three goes, and all were exhibitions of boxing and not fighting, much more satisfying because there is an exhibition of skill and no unpleasant features.

Barney Welch of Fall River and Dan Kelly of Providence first appeared and gave a good exhibition, the amateur judges giving Welch the decision on points. Jack Thong of Fort Adams and Jack Black of the Torpedo Station followed in the second four-round go. It was about even. Then came the wind-up, 10 rounds between Bay Wood of Fall River and Henry Myers of the Torpedo Station. It was a clever exhibition and opinion was divided at the end, some favoring Wood and some giving Myer credit for the better work.

THE FIRST WARM DAY OF SPRING.

This begins to feel almost like the good old summer time. The thermometer opened at 53 at 8 o'clock this morning, with the wind northwest and the weather for the first time feeling fine. The wind moved around to northeast, and then to southeast, when it began to feel rather chilly. Still the thermometer recorded 64 and winter clothing, for the first time, felt uncomfortable. It was so warm on Long wharf that George P. Smith brought out one of the settees and sat at the head of the wharf in comfort. It is the first really warm day of spring.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Miss Agnes Ludberg will leave tonight for New York.

—Miss Virginia Scott Hoyt, whose brother, Mr. Gould Hoyt, died abroad last week, has taken the Malcom cottage on Kay street.

—Mr. Sidney I. Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob A. Jacobs, arrived home Monday evening, after a three months' tour in Europe and the East.

—Perry House arrivals include E. G. Corbett, F. B. Tileston, M. J. Lockwood, Boston; W. H. Carroll, M. J. Sullivan, G. E. Finckman, New York; Charles E. Shean, Providence.

—A funeral service was held at the Naval Training Station at 11 o'clock this morning for Apprentice Seaman John Vogelsang, who died at the naval hospital of pneumonia. He came from Passaic, N. J.

—One of the special delivery boys at the postoffice established a record on a wager Monday evening, eating 12 bananas in seven minutes. Afterwards he went to a drug store and ordered a milk shake, to fill up on.

—Mr. Edgar McNaughton, a member of the international committee of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association, was here Monday to observe the progress of the new building and discuss co-operative working plans for the future.

—Work was begun Saturday on a new sidewalk in front of the Colonial Theatre. Monday the foundation was completed and today the surface is being put on. The fixtures for one of the stores are being set up and it begins to look as if the front of the structure would soon assume a finished appearance.

—Fishing steamer F. S. Willard, of the Seaconnet River Oyster Company's fleet, which has been lengthened 30 feet at Providence this winter, was launched there Monday and Captain Cottrell of the oyster company gave a number of the stockholders and friends a dinner at the Crown Hotel afterward.

—Monday evening several of the attendants upon the course of lectures on "Israel" given by Rev. John R. Brown of Providence during the winter took the examination prepared for them. Not all submitted to the test, but a few answered the 10 questions selected from a list of 50 which had previously been distributed. The papers will be forwarded to Dr. Brown.

—Lucrie F. Post has sold to herself and John H. Mahoney the Post estate on Bellevue avenue, bounded east on Bellevue avenue, south on Lake View avenue, west on land of Nonnie Stewart Leeds and north on land of Nonnie Stewart Leeds and Nathaniel Thayer. Her idea is to transfer title from herself alone to herself and her brother.

—A still alarm was rung at 8:40 Monday evening for what seemed to be a fire at the home of Mrs. Alderson on Morton avenue. When Hose 7 and Combination 2 reached the scene Mrs. Alderson was surprised. She had made a new fire, and perhaps it did perform so as to appear weird outside, but she did not see any call for the firemen. Neither did they.

—Two cases of drunkenness were all the report at the police station this morning. The police are after a couple who touched a boarding house for clothing and valuables, and then skipped. This afternoon a man was arrested charged with the larceny of two bicycles. The owners will be glad to hear he is caught, for many bicycles are disappearing in these days.

—While Proprietor McMullen has arrived from Boston, the purchasers of The Bijou Theatre are not expected until Wednesday. Mr. McMullen is not divulging the names of those with whom he is doing business, as they are desirous that their identity shall be kept a secret until they enter into possession. The delay will result in the house remaining closed the entire week.

—Local No. 176, United Brotherhood of Carpenters, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the order with a banquet and social Monday evening in Builders and Merchants hall. About 50 sat down to the banquet served by Muenchinger. Afterwards short addresses were made by several. The reception committee consisted of Hugh Campbell, J. Gallagher and J. W. McLeod.

EN ROUTE TO SAN SALVADOR.

Dr. Espinoza to Head Mutiny Against Estrada's Government.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—With the avowed purpose of leading a revolution against the government of President Estrada of Nicaragua, Dr. Rudolfo Espinoza, Nicaraguan minister to the United States during the Zelaya regime, has left Mexico City for San Salvador, according to a telegram received by the State Department from Ambassador Wilson. The department has instructed the American minister to San Salvador to report developments.

COMMANDER G. W. WILLIAMS.

Ordered as Inspector in Charge of the Torpedo Station May 8.

Has Made Special Study of Ordnance and Commanded the Torpedo Fleet.

The change in the commanding officer of the Torpedo Station—or, as the technical term is, the inspector in charge—which has been rumored for some time, was announced today by the Navy Department, in orders detaching Lieutenant Commander George White Williams from the command of the Atlantic torpedo fleet and ordering him to duty as inspector in charge of the Torpedo Station, relieving Commander Mark L. Bristol. The change will take place May 8, and Commander Bristol will be assigned to special duty abroad, investigating the manufacture of torpedoes.

Lieutenant Commander Williams, the new inspector, was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1890, in the class with Commanders J. V. Chase, H. J. Ziegemeier, Cleland Davis, M. H. Signor, C. T. Vogelgesang, L. H. Everett, Claude Bailey, John H. Dayton, L. A. Bostwick and John R. Edie, who have been stationed at Newport at various times and are well known throughout the service. Mr. Williams was promoted to ensign July 1, 1892; to lieutenant March 29, 1899; to lieutenant commander July 1, 1905, and was advanced to commander, to date from March 4, 1911, his appointment to the rank last named, having been brought about by a special act of Congress at the session ended on that date. The nomination has not yet been confirmed.

Lieutenant Commander Williams's first duty was at the Washington navy yard, where he made a special study of ordnance. During the Spanish-American war he served on the Columbia and from April 21, 1899, to May 1, 1901, was attached to training ship Monongahela in connection with the Newport Naval Training Station. His next service was at the Torpedo Station, where he remained until February, 1903, when he was ordered to the Wisconsin. After a sea service of nearly three years he was ordered to the bureau of ordnance, Washington, where he continued the study of that branch of the service, fitting himself for future duties in that line.

He was next on duty on the Wisconsin, and since last summer has been in command of the Atlantic torpedo fleet, which includes the Seventh, Eighth and Ninth torpedo divisions, and the First and Third submarine divisions which have been at practice during the winter in Southern waters, the entire fleet consisting of tender Dixie, destroyers Smith, Flusser, Lamson, Preston Reid, Paulding, Drayton, McCall, Roe, Terry Perkins, Warrington, Burrows, Sterrett and Trippe; submarines Cuttlefish, Tarantula, Viper, Grayling, Bonita, Narwhal, Salmon, Snapper, Stingray and Tarpon, and tenders Castine and Severn.

Lieutenant Commander Williams will be the fifteenth inspector in charge of the Torpedo Station since its establishment in 1869. The commanding officers, with the dates of their service here, are as follows:

Commander E. O. Matthews, June, 1869, to July, 1873.
Commander Edward Simpson, July, 1873, to June, 1875.
Captain K. R. Breese, June, 1875, to September, 1878.
Captain F. M. Ramsay, September, 1878, to January, 1881.
Commander T. O. Selfridge, January, 1881, to November, 1884.
Commander W. T. Sampson, November, 1884, to September, 1886.
Commander C. F. Goodrich, September, 1886, to November, 1889.
Commander T. F. Jewell, from December, 1889, to January, 1892.
Commander G. A. Converse, from January, 1892, to June, 1897.
Commander T. C. McLean, from June, 1897, to October, 1899.
Lieutenant Commander N. E. Mason, from October, 1899, to June, 1902.
Lieutenant Commander F. F. Fletcher, from June, 1902, to November, 1904.
Lieutenant Commander Albert Gleaves, from November, 1904, to June, 1908.
Lieutenant Commander Mark L. Bristol, from June, 1908, to May, 1911.

FATHER MEENAN AT THE LA SALLE REUNION.

Rev. William B. Meenan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, delivered the address at the annual reunion Monday evening in Providence of the Alumni Association of LaSalle Academy. He paid a high tribute to the Christian Brothers, under whose guidance the academy has been developed, telling of the self-sacrifice which characterized their work and the patient devotion which resulted in bringing the institution to its present high state of efficiency. Rt. Rev. Mgr. Thomas F. Doran, Vicar general of the diocese of Providence, also spoke briefly.

SETTLING THE PAPA AND STONEMAN FIRE LOSSES.

The insurance adjusters Monday settled the loss on the Papa building for $2,092, and allowed the owner $600 on the furniture in his apartments. Today the adjusters are at work on the stock in the Stoneman store. Mr. Stoneman has found his papers and books, which are in fairly good condition, and is therefore able to help the adjusters greatly with their work, especially since little of the stock was totally destroyed, so that it cannot be checked up as more or less damaged.

JAMESTOWN.

Death of Captain Wilton C. Hall From Consumption—Pretty Wedding at St. Mark's Church.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Captain Wilton C. Hall died shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, at his home at Conanicut Park, from consumption, after an illness which has confined him to his home only a short time. He was a native of New York state and spent a portion of his life on various vessels, visiting parts in all parts of the world. For five years he was engaged on vessels between New York and Liverpool, gaining for him the title of Captain. During the Civil war he served in both the navy and the army, belonging, at the time of his death, to a Grand Army post in Providence.

He came to Jamestown more than 20 years ago and made his home at Conanicut Park, and since that time had been employed as watchman on various government works until within a short time. Mr. Hall was a graduate of Harvard and took an active interest in the welfare of his adopted town, holding at different times several positions of trust. He leaves a widow, his only child having died several years ago.

St. Mark's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding Monday evening, when Miss Frances Dorothy Alderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Alderson of this town, was married to Patrick J. O'Connor of Weathersfield, Conn., Father P. J. O'Sullivan, the pastor, performing the ceremony. The bride was attended by Miss Edna T. Brown and Mr. John C. Dalgliish acted as best man.

The church and sanctuary were decorated with potted palms and Easter lillies by friends of the bride, who is popular with the younger set. The bride wore a gown of heavy embroidered net over white satin and the bridesmaid was gowned in white embroidered batiste.

The fourth and final round in the sixth series of Club whists was played in the Den, resulting in a win for team No. 1 by a score sufficient to put it in second place, No. 2 winning the series by a big margin. The score was: Team No. 1 won 72, total 225; No. 2 won 58, total 264; No. 3 won 40, total 209.

Miss Beulah Knowles, who has been visiting relatives in Providence, has returned to her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frame of Newport were on the island Monday, to inspect the work on their bungalow on the east shore.

Mr. P. H. Horgan is having an addition built to his cottage at the foot of Narragansett avenue.

Captain J. P. Cotton of Newport was on the island today.

The demand for small cottages for the summer months has already exceeded the supply.

M'NAMARA SAID TO BE KIDNAPPED.

afterward a summons was issued for Frank M. Ryan, President of the Iron Workers' Association, ordering him to produce certain records. Ryan failed to appear and by order of the grand jury deputy sheriffs went to the office building with a wagon and hauled the documents to the courthouse. It was announced that the grand jury at present did not care to examine Ryan as a witness.

Attorneys for the Iron Workers' Association, who strongly protested against the removal of the records, frankly said that their purpose in asking the court for the order granted by Judge Markey was to prevent examination of the books by Burns and his assistants, and by Walter Drew, chief counsel for the National Erectors' Association.

Frank P. Baker, county prosecutor has announced that the grand jury's investigation will go into intimations that there was a conspiracy against the Iron Workers' Association, and its officials, resulting in the "planting" of dynamite in their office building to create evidence against them. These allegations were contained in statements attributed to the union officials.

Mr. Baker said the grand jury will probe the charges that dynamite was collected here with the intention of using it to destroy buildings being erected by contractors employing non-union workmen. The depositing of the dynamite in the basement of the office building is in itself, he said, an offence against the statutes of Indiana.

PUBLIC APPEALED TO.

McNamara Should be Given Benefit of Presumption of Innocence.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—The California State Federation of Labor has issued an appeal to the public to give John J. McNamara and the others, accused of being implicated in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, the benefit of presumption of innocence. A resolution was passed by the executive board denouncing the crimes charged as "so heinous and revolting that no just punishment could ever be meted out."

OFFICIALS DENY REPORTS.

Government Detectives Not Connected With Dynamiting Outrages.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Officials of the Department of Justice and also the Treasury deny published reports that government detectives were connected with the cases against the men accused of the Los Angeles dynamiting and other outrages. It is pointed out that the operations of the secret service division of the Treasury are specifically confined by law to the protection of the President and the detention of counterfeiting. At the Department of Justice it is denied that any of the secret agents employed there were called into the case.

EIGHT MORE ENTOMBED.

Fifteen Bodies Recovered from Ott Mine, Scene of an Explosion.

ELK GARDEN, W. Va., April 25.—Fifteen bodies had been taken out of the Ott Mine No. 20 of the Davis Coal Company at 10 o'clock today, victims of the disastrous explosion yesterday. Eight other bodies are supposed to be in the mine, and the rescuers are trying to recover them. The bodies of 14 were found about one half mile from the entrance. The bodies are badly mangled and identification will be difficult. This morning John Laing, chief of the West Virginia department of mines, started an investigation into the cause of the accident. A special train arrived this morning bringing Assistant Engineer L. W. Jones of the government bureau of mines station at Pittsburg accompanied by First Aidmen John T. Ryan and David D. Davis.

CAMORRIST TRIAL ADJOURNS.

The Case May be Transferred to Some Other City in Italy.

VITERBO, Italy, April 25.—The trial of the Camorrists has been adjourned until Monday, because of the illness of a juror who failed to appear when the session was to have been resumed today. The man is said to be suffering from influenza. It is reported that the trial may be transferred to some other city because of dissatisfaction on the part of the jury.

Early in the proceedings the members petitioned the court for an increase in the fees allowed them, but no response to their request has been made. Accordingly, it is said that they are inclined to use obstructive measures. If one after the other is taken sick no further progress can be made under the present circumstances.

LATEST NAVAL NEWS.

Orders to Officers and Movements of Vessels Reported.

[Special despatch to The News.]

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The following orders to officers were announced by the Navy Department today:

IN FLOURISHING CONDITION.

PROVIDENCE, April 25.—Absolute freedom from liabilities and a "good round balance" in the treasury, a constantly increasing membership, and general flourishing conditions were reported by the secretary at the twenty-third annual convention of the United Order of the Golden Cross of Rhode Island, in this city today. About 100 delegates were present from all parts of the state.

MUCH BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

United American Mechanics Hold Convention in Providence.

PROVIDENCE, April 25.—With National Secretary Hutchins of Harrisburg, Pa., and many visitors from Massachusetts and Connecticut present, the Order of United American Mechanics held its nineteenth annual state convention in this city today. Plans were formulated for the celebration of the sixty-sixth anniversary of the foundation of the order July 8, and other business was transacted.

TEAMS INVITED TO ENGLAND.

English Lawn Tennis Association Asks Them to Preliminaries.

LONDON, April 25.—The English Lawn Tennis Association today cabled to the associations of the United States and South Africa inviting them to send teams to England, to play in the preliminaries of the Davis cup match during coronation week.

MANY GRIEVANCES PRESENTED.

Shopmen of Pennsylvania Road Being Discriminated Against.

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—Representing the shopmen employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a committee of six called on C. E. Long, general manager of the company today, and laid before him a list of grievances of the men. One of them, it is said, is that union workmen in the shops are being discriminated against. It is believed the result of the meeting will not be made known until the committee makes its report to the shop's men.

CLARK AND ROOT DISAGREE.

Speaker of House Says No One Knows When Congress Will Adjourn.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Speaker Clark does not agree with Senator Root that Congress is likely to adjourn by June 1. At the White House today, where he said he had talked "neighborhood gossip" with President Taft, Mr. Clark declared that nobody in the world knew how long Congress would be here. "I know as much about it as Senator Root and he knows as much about it as I do," said Mr. Clark. "I have attended two special sessions of Congress called to revise the tariff which lasted into August. There you are."

MULAI EL ZIN CHOSEN.

Brother of Haifid Proclaimed Sultan by the Rebel, Zammours.

TANGIER, Morocco, April 25.—Advices from Mequinez, 36 miles southwest of Fez, and one of the summer residences of the sultan, announce that Mulai El Zin, a brother of Sultan Mulai Haifid, has been proclaimed sultan by the rebels, Zammours, who, after capturing the place, pillaged the shops and killed several Jews.

The British legation has received advices dated Fez, April 20, stating that all in that city were safe at that time and that supplies of food were coming into the capital. The despatch adds that foreign consuls have decided to send away any of their countrymen who may desire to leave the city.

PROCLAMATION URGES ORDER.

France May Stop March of Troops Toward Fez If Menaces Stop.

CASABLANCA, Morocco, April 25.—General Moinier, commanding the French forces here, has issued a proclamation to the rebellious tribesmen, stating that France does not propose to occupy new territory, but merely to assure the safety of foreigners and re-establish order under the authority of the sultan. The tribes are told that if they will end the rebellion and discontinue their menaces, France will stop the march of her troops toward Fez. Otherwise the French government will be obliged to pacify the country and severely punish the leaders in the revolt.

DIES OF HIS INJURIES.

Aviator Purvis of Chicago, Who Fell With His Biplane, Expires.

NEW ORLEANS, April 25.—William A. Purvis of Chicago, who fell with his biplane March 5 last, died last night of his injuries. Purvis fell beneath his engine, the weight of which drove a wood stave entirely through his hip.

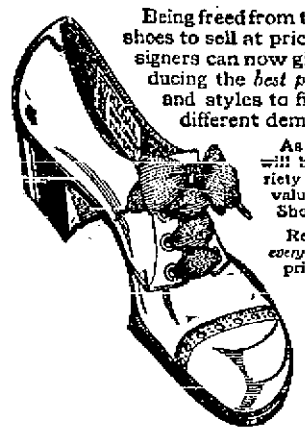
Cost Plus 5%

Means Better Values and Greater Variety Than Ever

Regal Shoes, as our advertisements have told you, are now sold at cost, plus 5 per cent.

The small cost of selling is of course included, and if the result happens to figure out at an "odd" price—like $3.85, for example, the price is $3.85. The shoe is not "built up" with unnecessary extras to sell at $4, nor is it skinned down to sell at $3.50.



Being freed from the former necessity of building shoes to sell at prices fixed in advance, Regal designers can now give their whole attention to producing the best possible combinations of materials and styles to fill the many different demands.

As a result, there will be greater variety and better values in Regal Shoes than ever.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS

Having decided to retire from business, and rather than ship our stock to auction rooms, we are going to give the people of Newport and vicinity who have so loyally stood by this store for over thirty years the benefit of our loss.

This stock consists of high and medium grade Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishings, Odd Trousers, Overalls, etc. We shall make short work of selling this stock—low prices will do it and do it quickly, too. The entire stock, including our new spring goods, will be placed on sale at from 1-3 to 1-2 off the regular price WEDNESDAY MORNING at 9 o' clock. Sale will continue THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY.

We must vacate this store May 1. All fixtures will be sold at a small fraction of their worth.

Protection! Service! Council!

In every bank announcement a feature is made of the security it offers depositors.

This is commonplace and is no more than you have a legitimate right to expect.

Banking is based on security.

Our service extends beyond this element of security. It extends to meeting the depositors on intimate equitable lines, and our advice is at the disposal of our depositors, who are seeking for investment of their funds.

Do not hesitate to call on us in this essential.

This broad policy of co-operation is a new phase in the banking business and marks the first real advance in twentieth century banking.

The invitation to call in and discuss business with us is extended cordially to the ladies.

Noon—Stocks manifested a sagging tendency in the second hour again under the leadership of United States Steel, which touched 73 on moderately large offerings. Rumors of internal troubles and important resignations from the corporation were officially denied and were without effect upon the list, which was dull and heavier throughout. There was some selling of the Harriman issues as a result of the decision against Southern Pacific in connection with its large land holdings, and trading as a whole was perfunctory and more restricted than for some days past. Mackay Companies and the Texas Company declined 3 points. Bonds were steady. Money on call steady at 2¼ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 3½ to 4 per cent. Exchanges $271,827,384, balances $12,436,744.

NOT MANY IN UNIFORM.

Large Party at the Camp Thomas Annual Social, With Eighteen Complimentary Dances.

The 6th annual social of Rear Admiral Charles M. Thomas Camp, No. 3, United Spanish War Veterans, in Masonic hall Monday evening, was attended by a large party, though there were fewer uniforms of the service on the floor than some of the members would have liked to see. The men from the army and navy stations were well represented in numbers, but have become so accustomed to wearing civilian dress ashore that they did not appreciate that this is an event where uniforms are welcome.

There were 18 dances on the program, complimentary to Old Glory, the U. S. W. V., Comrade Commander Hourigan, The G. A. R., the C. P. O. Club, The Order of the Serpent, Our Commander, The Committee, the U. S. A., Those Ashore and Afloat, the Department Commander, Our Wives and Sweethearts, the U. S. Navy, Our Absent Comrades, Twenty-five-year Retirement, Our Guests, Our Loved ones at Home, and Hoping to Meet in 1912.

Music was furnished by the Peerless orchestra and the officials of the social were: Floor director, Henry Ratkamp; assistant floor director, Albert E. Honnan; aids, Alex Bitz, Charles Karlquest; committee of arrangements, H. Ratkamp, A. Britz, A. Honnen, L. Larson and H. Karlquest.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

An impromptu musicale took place in the men's lobby of the Young Men's Christian Association Monday evening, given by Messrs. Will Harry, Raymond P. Friend, Charles Berry and several other members of the Association Dramatic club. The object was primarily to try on the piano a large amount of popular and classical music which has just been added to the men's lobby.

While the concert was in progress a Boston terrier wandered in from outside and interrupted things for a while. The stranger made herself very much at home for a while, and from the affection she displayed it was surmised that she had strayed away from none. The name on the collar showed that she belonged out on Bay View avenue. This led to an investigation by telephone, as a result of which two of the boys led her home. The lady who owned the dog was thankful for their kindness, the animal being a pet of the family.

Base ball games arranged by Mr. Warren for this week are: Thursday, Basin lot, 4:30, Y. M. C. A. second team vs. St. Joseph's; Friday, Basin lot, 4:30, fourth team vs. Basin Giants; Saturday Cloyne School grounds, first team vs. Cloyne second.

THE COMPLETED FOUNTAIN FUND.

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir: May we thank, through your columns, those who have so generously subscribed to the appeal for a fountain for horses and dogs to be placed on Touro Park West? Had time permitted, the subscription list would have been kept open to enable us to select a design of artistic merit, but as summer is so near at hand it seems best to procure one for which we have the money in hand. The interest taken by the citizens in the fountain has been especially gratifying. The full list of subscriptions follows:

REVISING THE ORDINANCES.

The committee on revision of the city ordinances at its meeting Monday completed the work of bringing together all the old ordinances, with the amendments thereto. It will now be necessary to assemble the amended ordinances as they are, with the amendments incorporated. There are many ordinances which are obsolete, some through the action of the new charter and others for other reasons, and many changes which should be made. Such changes as suggest themselves to the committee will probably be recommended to the Council for action. There may also be suggestions for new ordinances, which will be included in the report to the Council.

DEATH OF MRS. TENNEY.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Tenney died this morning at the Anthony cottage, Catherine street, where for a few years she had made her home. She was in her eighty-second year and had been a resident of Newport nearly 40 years, having occupied a house on Pelham street which was sold about six years ago. Since that time Mrs. Tenney had made her home in various localities, and four years ago returned to Newport.

Mrs. Tenney was the widow of a Unitarian clergyman who died many years ago, and lived with her daughter on Pelham street. The latter, Miss Carrie Tenney, died some time since. Mrs. Tenney was a prominent member of the Unitarian Church in this city when it was located on Mill street, and with her daughter was a constant attendant upon its services. She was of a kindly and hospitable nature and not unfrequently opened her house for the church with which she was connected for entertainments. She leaves no immediate family.

USE OF THE IRISH LANGUAGE.

Eloquent Addresses by Mr. MacColum and Father O'Flanagan Preceded by Familiar Songs.

In Realty hall Monday evening the United Irish Societies of Newport tendered a reception to the two visiting Irishmen who are touring this country in the interest of the Gaelic League of Ireland. There was a big attendance and the visitors must have been satisfied at their treatment. The committee in charge had done its work well. The hall was decorated with American and Irish flags and the stage was set with palms. A good program of Irish music had been arranged and was well sung, and the visitors did their part well.

Mr. Fionan MacColum spoke in Irish, and had his audience laughing much of the time. Father O'Flanagan spoke in Irish. He said one born of the Irish race cannot think as smoothly in English as in Irish, but there is no question but Father O'Flanagan can think and speak, in English. No mistake was made when he was selected as one of the envoys to America, for he gave a talk which was interesting in more ways than one. Mayor Boyle presided and introduced the speakers briefly, and the crowd listened and applauded and laughed and fully enjoyed the time.

Chairman Sullivan of the committee of arrangements briefly introduced Mayor Boyle as chairman of the meeting, and the mayor said it was not the duty of a presiding officer to take all the time in speaking when there were others. He promised that they would learn some interesting facts about the Gaelic League movement, which has done so much for Ireland, not only in creating a new interest in the revival of the national language, but in bringing the various sections of the country into accord and making all feel like working for Ireland, with results which are satisfactory.

On the stage, besides the speakers, were members of the general and reception committee of the United Irish Societies, including many who are well known all over the city. The stage was not large enough to hold all who had been invited to seats, but the body of the hall held the others, and they all seemed to be on hand.

The musical program was announced by Mayor Boyle to be just as printed with one exception; the illness of Mr. McVay of the quartet called for the substitution of Mr. E. H. Holton of Providence, who has sung here before and was in fine voice. There was Miss Alice Donovan, who sang "Come Back to Erin" and "Killarney"; Mr. Henry Kelly, who gave "Kathleen Mavourneen" and "The Minstrel Boy," and Mr. J. Frank Albro, who rendered "The Pretty Maid Milking her Cow" and "The Cruiskeen Lawn". All sang well and Newport's part was well rendered.

The Wolf Tone Quartet did the rest of the singing and did it well. It gave two medleys of Irish songs, and closed by singing "The Wearing of the Green," with chorus by the audience. Mr. Holton sang "O'Donnell Abhu" and the audience demanded an encore and he gave them "The Harp that Once." He later sang "The Boys of Wexford." Mr. Feeley sang "The Wearing of the Green" and "The Dear Little Shamrock."

There was one interruption in the program, while Chairman Sullivan of the committee notified the envoys that the societies had subscribed as follows to the fund: Divisions 1 and 2 Ancient Order of Hibernians; Hibernian Rifles, Robert Emmett Literary Association, County Kerrymen's Association and Knights of St. Finbar, each $20; Father Meenan, $5.

Mayor Boyle was happy in his introductions of the speakers. Of Mr. MacColum he said that he had been interested in this work for years and would speak in the real language. Many would understand what he was saying, while others, including himself, would not, but he had confidence that what he would say would be all right.

For about 15 minutes Mr. MacColum spoke in Irish, and was understood by a considerable part of the audience, for the study of the Irish language has not been confined to Ireland, and of course many are in the habit of speaking it right along. He had his hearers laughing with funny stories or listening closely to sketches of the work of the League in interesting people on the other side of the ocean to take up the study of their own language, with results satisfactory to those engaged in the work.

Mayor Boyle, in introducing Father O'Flanagan, spoke of the foremost position in all matters of national interest taken by the priests of Ireland and said Father O'Flanagan is a worthy successor of the old-time priests who stood for what was best for the people.

Father O'Flanagan spoke for more than an hour, and every minute was interesting, witty and eloquent. In opening he said, Mr. MacColum in making his address in Irish spoke from the right side of the flag, but for the sake of the seven or eight present who did not understand the Irish language he would speak from the wrong side of the flag and talk in English, though he much preferred the other language. He said the national language is absolutely essential to the maintenance of a nation. He gave examples of how this works, showing that after centuries of the use of a language a nation comes to think and act in that language; it is not an artificial expression, but a natural one. To shift the people to another language is to cut them off from the natural thoughts of the race; it is a curtailment of their national habits and eventually leads to the disappearance of many of the national characteristics of the race. For that reason the maintenance of a race depends on the use of the national language.

Some people have looked for a universal language. It would be convenient for travelers in France, Germany, Spain and elsewhere to be able to talk to all in one language, but if they were many of the most pleasing characteristics of those countries would have dis-

Anniversary Reunion of the Newport Artillery Especially Enjoyable.

The Newport Artillery has held many pleasant reunions in observance of its anniversaries, but none more enjoyable, more interesting as a social gathering, and with more patriotic and inspiring speeches than the celebration of the one hundred and seventieth anniversary, Monday evening. There was present a smaller number than usual of former members but the active men were out in force and several brought their wives.

The guests were received by Colonel Frank P. King and other officers, in the company and officers' rooms on the second floor, and spent an hour in social intercourse, awaiting the sound of the bugle to call the company to the main hall for the dinner. Here were arranged five tables, a long one for the special guests, along the south side, and four smaller, across the hall. The tables were decorated with palms and potted plants.

At the guest tables were ex-Congressman William Paine Sheffield, Representatives Robert S. Franklin and Horace N. Hassard, President William Hamilton of Company F Association, Lieutenant Joseph G. Leikens and Sergeant George Washington Gibson of the Old Guards Association of New York, Colonel Herbert Bliss, Sheriff James Anthony, Lieutenant Colonel A. A. Sherman, Major Robert C. Ebbs, Captain William Knowe, Adjutant William E. Braley, Chaplain E. H. Porter, Surgeon C. F. Darker, Ordnance Sergeant Thomas H. Lawton and the wives of several of the officers.

Chaplain Porter asked the divine blessing and the following menu was served by Muenchinger:

Oysters on Half Shell,
Horse Radish
Olives Celery Radishes Pickles
Cream of Celery with Croutons
Individual Baked Cream Fish
Roast Turkey.
Dressing Cranberry Jelly
Giblet Sauce.
Mashed Potatoes Peas Rolls
Waldorf Salad.
Neapolitan Ice Cream.
Fancy Cakes.
Toasted Cheese Crackers.
Coffee.

During the dinner Knowe's orchestra rendered the following program, under the direction of Corporal Alonzo A. Knowe:

March, "DeMolay Commandery" Hall
Overture, "Lustspiel" Kela Bela
Waltz, "Tesoro Mio" Becucci
Song for Trombone, "Asleep in the Deep" Petrie
William G. Taylor.
Popular Medley
Flute Solo, "Addah Polka" Losey
William E. Patrick.
March, "Imperial" Bagley

After cigars were lighted Colonel King called the assemblage to order, and after extending a hearty welcome to all gave the following review of the work of the company during the past year:

The past year has been one of the most successful in the history of this company; in a great many respects. At our annual inspection, May, 1910, by Major Charles W. Abbot, Jr., U. S. A. (retired), our marks were the best ever received by the company, not a man absent or unaccounted for, 100 per cent, and our total marks were 48 points out of a possible 50, or 98 per cent.

The rifle practice, this year, has been under the able and efficient management of the inspector, Lieutenant Robert Patterson, Jr., whose untiring efforts have made this a record year, both outside at Coddington Point and at the gallery in the armory. I am proud of this record and hope that the company will strive to keep up, next year.

Outside, with the rifle, fifty-three officers and men reported; 53 men qualified, 3 as experts, 5 as sharpshooters, 14 as marksmen, 2 as first-class shots, 3 as second-class shots and 26 as third-class shots—100 per cent.

Outside, with the revolver, 22 officers and men reported; 22 qualified, 2 as sharpshooters, 8 as marksmen, 2 as first-class shots, 1 as second-class shot, and 9 as third-class shots—100 per cent.

Inside, gallery range, with the rifle, 47 officers and men reported; 44 qualified, 10 as experts, 7 as sharpshooters, 4 as first-class marksmen, 17 as second-class marksmen and 6 as third-class marksmen—94 per cent.

We have no outstanding indebtedness, the cash on hand to the credit of the company amounting $12,057.56. This year we have laid aside $3,000, to be known as the Henderson fund, which cannot be used, unless by unanimous vote of the company. From the Thayer Fund, a fund by which we take care of our sick members, 44 members received help or relief and there was expended from this fund $570.51, leaving $6,980.81 on hand.

The social part of this company has not been neglected this year. We have enjoyed smokers, ladies' nights, benefits, socials, and the Washington Birthday ball was the social event of the season. We also had a friendly rifle match between the officers and men, and the officers did come back and won both matches, even if the colonel did make a miss.

Whatever we have accomplished, it has not been the work of one man, but it has been the concerted action of every officer and man, assisted by the proper spirit and love that every officer and man has for the old company, and with such backing we cannot help but succeed, and such a spirit and love existed in the days of trial, as our past history speaks for itself. And, I repeat, that same spirit and love exists now, as it did then, and if the occasion required, that the Newport Artillery Company of today was called upon to volunteer, every officer and man would respond, with the same patriotism that existed in those members when George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and William McKinley called for men to defend that grand old flag, our beloved Red, White and Blue, and they would not be found wanting, and they would always bear in mind our motto "Fiat Justitia Ruat Coelum"—uphold justice though the heavens fall.

There were some indications for service recently, and wishing to know how many men would respond if their services were required I called for volunteers, and after stating what would be expected of them 94 per cent stepped to the front and signified their willingness to go where they may be sent. That, Gentlemen, is the kind of spirit that exists in this company today and I will also add that 11 officers out of 13 applied for service at the maneuvres in Texas, and that proves what I have said about the kind of spirit that exists now.

COLD STORAGE PLANT SOLD.

Mr. Paulson, Purchaser of Independent Company's Property, Prepared to Continue the Business.

The plant of the Independent Ice & Cold Storage Company, located on Sherman's wharf was sold at receiver's sale this morning to M. J. Paulson of Gloucester, on his bid of $35,000 to which should be added the mortgage and taxes for this year, making the total approximately $42,375. There was but one bid.

The sale was made in accordance with a decree of the circuit court of the United States, the long advertisement of which has appeared in the columns of The News for the past three weeks. Mr. J. M. Marshall, counsel for William R. Rose, who had been appointed receiver of the company, read the decree of the court and the receiver's notice of the sale in accord therewith, and then Auctioneer O'Neill called for bids. Under the decree cash or a certified check for $5,000 must be deposited with the receiver before the sale by any who proposed to bid and Mr. Paulson deposited a check for the amount required by the court. Mr. Marshall stated that the outstanding obligations to be assumed by the bidder were a mortgage for $7,000 and this year's taxes, approximately $375. Mr. Paulson offered $35,000 and there being no additional bid the property was sold to him.

Mr. Paulson stated after the sale that the company will be at once organized to carry on the business and will be ready as soon as the fish come in. The plant has not been allowed to deteriorate, considerable work having been done on buildings and machinery this winter and spring, ice has been put in and the work will be continued until the property is in the best of condition. All the old stockholders will have an opportunity to come into the new company on the same terms with Mr. Paulson and his associates and the principal stockholders have already agreed to do so. It is proposed to interest also some men who are familiar with the cold storage business, and to run the business in an up-to-date manner. Some new features will be added and arrangements made to handle bait as well as food fish. It is possible also that other features which have been made a part of the cold storage plants elsewhere will be put in.

Mr. Paulson is an expert in the cold storage line and no better man could be had to handle the affairs of the new company. The old company had a good first year, then came two years when there was not enough food fish to supply the current market, with the result that the cold storage plant had no business, though the natural ice business was all right. It is now proposed to keep the cold storage busy whether or not there is sufficient food fish.

The company bought the old Sherman's wharf and first put up icehouses for the fish trade. The cold storage plant was erected, and then came the scarcity of fish above referred to, and a consequent falling off in receipts which caused finally those directors who were carrying the financial burden to apply for a receiver, to straighten out things and put the concern on a good financial basis. This is expected to follow the sale made this morning.

CONTINUED TO MAY 2.

Counsel for Littlefield, Charged With Murder, Insist Upon a Hearing Then.

At the request of Attorney General Greenough the case pending against Frank Littlefield of Block Island, on the charge of murder, has been continued for hearing until May 2. When the matter was called in the district court this morning Mr. Clark Burdick, speaking for the attorney general, said the latter had asked for a week's continuance before assignment of the case, the law providing for that. Mr. Burdick also announced that he would insist upon having the case set definitely for hearing then. Mr. Burdick, together with Mr. F. F. Nolan is counsel for Littlefield. They formally entered their appearance in the case this morning.

Littlefield came over from the jail to be present in court. He looked brighter and more cheerful than on the day when he was arraigned and remarked about the fine morning.

The only other matter before the court was a case entitled City Steam Laundry vs. Mary A. Reagan.

THE FIRST PALMER TEACHER'S CERTIFICATE.

The first teacher's certificate under the Palmer system of writing has been received by Miss Gertrude Sullivan, assistant teacher in grade VII of the Lenthal school. Four other teachers are ready to send their papers for examination for a teacher's certificate, but Miss Sullivan was the first to receive one. She has taken up the new system with much interest and seems able to inspire the scholars under her with much of her own enthusiasm for the new style, with satisfactory results to the writing of the pupils.
